English/Literacy

At the start of November, the Allingham Arts Festival took place in Ballyshannon.

The Festival has, in the past, provided writers, poets and artists the opportunity to showcase their work. It is therefore noteworthy that amongst many prestigious schools from Donegal, Sligo and Leitrim, three boys from St. Michael's College were successful in their desire for success.

Joshua Crudden, Neil Kelly and James McGeough each submitted an original poem in order to display their talents. Joshua's poem entitled, "Change", secured him an overall first place within the Junior Section whilst James McGeough followed closely behind with a 2nd place.

In the Senior Section, Neil Kelly secured a coveted rank position. A talented young man from Monea, his imaginative work earned him third place.

The three boys were invited to attend a prize giving ceremony in Ballyshannon during which they were presented with their award.

Well done to our young writers!

Music

St. Michael's Carol Service will be taking place in St. Michael's Church on Thursday 15th December at 8pm involving performances from the Brass Band, the College Choir and a number of soloists

Library – Book fair

Please remind pupils that the School Library is hosting a Scholastic Book Fair from Friday 25th November until Wednesday 30th November, to celebrate reading and learning and to help us to buy books and resources for our school!

Students are welcome to come along at break-times and lunchtimes to browse through a selection of specially priced books, including newly released works, award winning titles, children's classics and current bestsellers from more than 40 different publishers.

Thank you for your support.
